DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-21, drawn to use of a single-stranded RNA molecule having a length from 14-50 nucleotides, which inhibits the expression of a target transcript, wherein said expression is inhibited by RNA interference.

Group II, claim(s) 22-29, drawn to a purified human RISC and a method of enhancing RNAi in a cell comprising overexpressing RISC.

Group III, claim(s) 30-31, drawn to an antisense siRNA precursor molecule in the form of a hairpin stem-loop structure comprising 19 to 29 base pairs in stem.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The inventions of groups I-III are found to have no special technical features that define a contribution over the prior art of Schmitz et al. (Nucleic Acids Research, 2001, 29:415-422). See citation. The special technical feature of the first claimed invention is use of a single-stranded RNA molecule having a length from 14-50 nucleotides, which inhibits the expression of a target transcript.

Schmitz et al. teach use of single-stranded RNA molecules having 14-50 nucleotides in length, which inhibit the expression of a target transcript including the translational start site. See pages 415-416.

Therefore, applicants' invention does not contribute a special technical feature when viewed over the teachings of Schmitz et al. Accordingly, the inventions of groups I-III do not have a single inventive concept and so lack unity of invention, thus restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
